

Faro Logistics is Named a Top 3PL Company by WarehousingAndFulfillment.com

Ohio Based Faro Logistics Recognized For Superior Quality and Service in the 3PL Industry

WarehousingandFulfillment.com is pleased to announce that FARO Logistics has been named a Top 3PL Award winner – a designation given to a select group of 3PL companies throughout the US that pass through a stringent set of quality and service metrics. With over 25 years of industry experience, FARO Logistics managed to garner superior rankings in the various performance metrics conducted in areas such as accuracy of shipping, consistency of on-time shipping, quality of customer service, and flexibility of services offered.

“The third party logistics industry is a crowded space,” noted Will Schneider, President of WarehousingAndFulfillment.com, “but even though there are a large number of logistics companies out there, only a fraction of them consistently deliver quality results and the degree of flexibility required in our new economy.” And indeed this is where FARO logistics shines – not only did they achieve extremely high performance metrics in the analysis, but they also exhibited a rare flexibility when it came to structuring a customized fulfillment program and designing unique solutions for integration and technology.

FARO Logistics brings a unique set of skills and abilities to the table which enable customers to achieve additional cost savings over typical warehousing providers. The company offers strategically located facilities throughout the US in order to not only reduce time in transit but also decrease shipping costs for its customers. Furthermore, FARO Logistics operates its own transportation division, which can further reduce costs and streamline communication required to manage the shipping process.

“We really appreciate the recognition from WarehousingAndFulfillment.Com.” says Rich Greathouse, COO of FARO logistics. “It just verifies the performance numbers we have stood behind for 25 years!”

About FARO Logistics: FARO Logistics offers full scale third party logistics services from multiple locations throughout the US, including warehousing, light assembly, kitting, order fulfillment, and transportation.
